ARRIVAL OF GOVERNOR-GENERAL IN CANADA

Lady Byng; His Excellency Lord Byng, G.C.B., G.C.M.G.; Commander E. Cook, R.N.R.; Captain The Honourable W. D. H. Jolliffe, A.D.C.; Mr. Neil McLean, Labor M.P. for Glasgow; The Honourable Captain F. W. Erskine, A.D.C.

PROVINCIAL NEWS ITEMS

The sum of $150,000 was paid out in Lethbridge on Saturday last to the coal miners.

Lieut.-Governor Lionel H. Clarke of Ontario died at his home in Toronto on August 29.

John Callaghan of Calgary, was appointed deputy minister of railways and telephones.

Steps for the assistance of western cattle raisers are still under consideration by the Ottawa government.

About twenty Indians are engaged with farmers in the Longview district stooking grain. They are camped in the district and the squaws help in the work.

The number of crooks who are using the army uniform is unpleasantly large and the G.W.V.A. could render valuable service to the community by bringing such out and exposing grafters of this kind.

Indications that the Imperial Oil Co. intend to prospect the district in the foothills west of Red Deer, for oil, are given in the fact that during the past week, oil rights to nine sections of land in the Nordegg district were filed upon by persons stated to be representing Imperial Oil Co. interests.

The disaster that occurred at Hull, England, when the Z R-2 dirigible suddenly broke in two in mid air and fell with a majority of the crew in the Humber river has stirred British and American people as no event has since the war. Several of Britain's and America's best air authorities are included among the dead, two of them being Brig.-General Maitland of Britain and Commander Sam H. Maxfield of the States.

RED-CROSS NOTES

The enthusiasm of members of the Junior Red Cross is so marked in some districts that they have undertaken membership campaign among the seniors and are doing very well. With the opening of the schools, their work will become very active.

Extensive preparations are being made at the provincial headquarters of the Red Cross in Calgary to meet the relief situation this fall. The Red Cross has already had a number of calls and have given every assistance possible in all cases, which upon investigation, proved to be genuine.

The Red Cross took an active part in the Memorial services held in Calgary on Sunday. They arranged automobiles for all the soldier patients in the Calgary hospitals, and their members were also in attendance at the service in large numbers.

The unemployment situation is one of the many problems which the new government is giving a good deal of attention these days. The Red Cross is doing its part in helping give information along these lines. Mrs. Waagen, Honorary Secretary, has attended two conferences in Edmonton at which this all-important subject was discussed.

HERE WAS SUCCESS

A Boston firm that wished to know what constitutes success paid $250 to Mrs. A. J. Stanley of Lincoln, Kansas, for this definition: "He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much, who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children, who has filled his niche and accomplished his task, who has left the world better than he found it, whether by an improved poppy, a perfect poem or a rescued soul, who has never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it, who has always looked for the best in others and given the best he had, whose life was an inspiration, whose memory is a benediction." It may be yours.

SHIPPING CATTLE TO ENGLAND

Rolling toward the Atlantic seaboard are some 200 head of Alberta cattle, as fine a shipment commercially as has ever gone forward to the Old Country. They are in charge of W. F. Stevens, secretary of the Stock Growers' Protective Association, who intends to study at first hand the many conditions connected with the livestock industry in Britain.

The shipment consisted of three cars from George McElroy, Calgary, five cars from George Root, Wetaskiwin, one car each from D. P. McDonald, Cochrane, and D. E. Riley, High River, and two cars from W. H. Wilderman, Blackie.

The animals will be shipped by the White Star steamer, Caledonian, which leaves Montreal on Sept. 2, destined for Liverpool.

Why, deacon, on what do you mean?"

"On your sideboard you have several cut-glass decanters, each half filled with what appears to be arden spirits."

"Why, deacon," said his hostess, "it isn't anything of the kind. The bottles look so pretty on the sideboard that I just filled them half-way with some floor stain and furniture polish, just for appearances."

"That's why I'm cautioning you, sister," replied the deacon. "Feeling a trifle weak and faint, I helped myself to a dose from the big bottle in the middle."

FINE SAMPLE OF WHEAT

The first samples of this season's threshed wheat arrived in Calgary and have been pronounced by George Hill, Dominion government inspector, to be of excellent quality and quite up to the samples received last year. The samples were from the Taber district and graded number 1 northern. The wheat is of excellent color and shows but little, if any, trace of the dry weather experienced this year.

WHERE IS JAMES GIBSON

In the last issue of the Montreal Star and Herald there appeared in "Missing Relative" Column the following enquiry about James Gibson. Any person knowing of the whereabouts of Mr. Gibson should notify his relatives at the following address as mentioned in this paragraph: James Gibson, left Forfarshire, Scotland, 16 years ago for High River. Last heard of 12 years ago, in Calgary. Brother enquires, Charles Gibson, c/o G. Gunn, Box 26, Crystal City, Man.

FIRE THREATENS TOWN

On Sunday morning, at the hour of 10.30 the residents of Vulcan were startled by the ringing of the fire bell. The fire was first noticed by Mr. McArthur, who informed Mrs. Vansinker, that smoke was issuing from the west side of the house. Mrs. Vansinker rang the alarm into the police station and it was not long before the whole town turned out, everyone ready to do their share. The fire started between the walls, and as there was no stove or chimney near the source of the fire, it has been impossible to find out the cause. It is thought that possibly a mouse had carried a match there, which in some mysterious way, had become ignited. A strong west wind was blowing at the time and had the fire got a real hold, it would have meant a large portion of the town would have gone. Damage has not yet been estimated, but it is expected to be very slight.

BELIEF

I believe in the stuff I am handing out, in the firm I am working for, and in my ability to get results. I believe that honest stuff can be passed out to honest men by honest merchants. I believe in working, not weeping; in boosting, not knocking; and in the pleasure of my job. I believe that a man gets what he goes after, and one deed done today is worth two deeds tomorrow, and that no man is down and out until he has lost faith in himself. I believe in today and the work I am doing, in tomorrow and the work I hope to do, and in the sure reward which the future holds. I believe in courtesy, in kindness, in generosity, in good cheer, in friendship, and in honest competition. I believe there is something doing, somewhere, for every man ready to do it. I believe I'm ready—RIGHT NOW! —Elbert Hubbard.

SOLDIER SETTLERS MAKE GOOD

Soldier settlers in Saskatchewan are making "good." There are now fifty-five settlers on the Piasot Reserve and these men have an average of seventy-five acres each cultivated this year. There are more than 2,200 acres in crop and 3,000 additional acres broken. The soldiers are enthusiastic regarding crop prospects and anticipate a thirty-five bushel yield.

Somebody sent the editor of the Pukestown Gazette a few bottles of home brew. The same day he received for publication a wedding announcement and a notice of an auction sale.

Here are the results: "Wm. Smith and Miss Lucy Anderson were disposed of at public auction at my farm, one mile east of a beautiful cluster of roses on her breast and two white calves, before a background of farm implements, too numerous to mention in the presence of about seventy guests, including two milk cows, six mules and one bulbul.

Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot with 200 feet of hay rope and the bridal couple left on one good John Deere gang plow for an extended trip with terms to suit purchasers. The Vulcan Advocate is now qualified to give the best possible service to local advertisers. Advertisements of all the goods and articles used in the homes and elsewhere in the town and district should appear in these columns. The merchant and business people must become our patrons if this weekly journal is to continue to issue. The newspaper is a real asset to any community, but it can only exist by virtue of the support which it receives from the community.

REDISTRIBUTION FIRST

Just when there will be a Dominion election is just now very much of an uncertainty, but it cannot be much longer delayed. Opponents of the government have long been making the demand for a vote, and there is also a considerable proportion of its supporters which favor an early appeal to the people. Opponents of the government in the West, while eager for an election which they anticipate will be a defeat of the present administration, are also keen for a redistribution which will give the west greater representation. The delay in the census has made redistribution at present an impossibility and created a complication that only time can remedy. It has been stated that there is a preponderance of opinion in favor of a redistribution before an election, and this idea has our humble support. Owing to the long period between the taking of the census, which is necessary to a redistribution, the west has for some time been without the representation to which it is entitled by its population. It will be anything but fair or good business to have an election before redistribution.

The Ottawa Citizen, in describing the origin of the method of "boycott," furnishes the information that the practice as we know it is a product of Ireland, and was first introduced in 1880. Ireland has many things to its credit and discredit.

Traffic officers in the city of Seattle have been furnished with motor cars for the purpose of overtaking Skinnay and his pals who might be playing the ancient game of "hooky." The furnishing of these machines might either be a credit to the speed of the kids or a commentary on the gait of the average cop. One advantage that the boys has is that these cars bear the pain sign which designates them as "cop cars" and the kids have at least a chance to duck when they see them coming.

Joseph Reid, a farmer of Carstairs, is credited with making the proposition that if he be given the nomination in the West Calgary constituency in the federal election, and if elected, he will split his $4000 indemnity fifty-fifty with the widows and orphans of soldiers. This has been described as a unique bid for office, but it is certainly more definite and fair than the promises of road improvements, public works, and other baits, made by candidates we have known, and he has the credit of offering his own instead of that which belongs to the people and the country, and that is perhaps what makes this proposition unique.

The new geography for use in the public schools in Ontario, made necessary by the changes created by the great war, has been delayed in publication because of the fight that is on between the printers and the employers. War, no matter what kind or where, is hell.

The proposition of the British government for the settlement of the Irish question was delivered to the Sinn Fein officials on the thirteenth of the month, and the answers to their reply has been returned by Lloyd George on Friday. How can anything be accomplished under these circumstances, and particularly in Ireland?

A Presbyterian minister from a country parish in the Old Country has arrived in Canada, and with his wife and family of thirteen children will become residents at Macleod, Alberta. Macleod will now no doubt be added to the number of places which have found fault with the census enumeration and will make a demand for a revision of the same.

Nowadays it costs too much to be born, and when one dies the expenses to the living run abnormally high. Life does seem to be one big bill. The extreme in the high cost of birth has been the cause of the campaign launched in New York by the commissioner of the department of Public Welfare to lower the cost. The commissioner declared that the big fees charged by the doctors and the hospital rates keep down the birth-rate. This condition applies more or less everywhere. Children are the greatest asset of the state, and that many should be born, and well born, is, to say the least, a matter of good business. The present system is to penalize the parents who give free to the state its best asset, and though the attention and care given to our mothers and children is perhaps worth the high fees and charges made, these should not be made a handicap to the parents and families. The commissioner in New York is alleviating the circumstance to some extent by admitting to municipal institutions maternity patients able to pay moderate fees. To localize the subject we are pleased to note that in the hospital scheme which is in practice in Alberta, and which has been adopted in several districts, provision is being made for the care of such cases in a proper manner and at a reduced cost.

Germany has just signed the peace treaty with the United States, and one war between these nations is now officially over. It is in good time just before the conference of the association of nations summoned to discuss the question of disarmament.

It pays to advertise is just as true of the church as of business, argues a big city daily, and churches in Cincinnati, Columbus and other cities have taken up the idea with great success, and in some instances have supplemented newspapers advertising by the use of bill boards. The church too often readily recognizes that it pays to advertise, but is not too ready to pay for advertising.

That the women are looking after the interests of women is evidenced by the fact that Mrs. Nellie McClung, M.L.A., recently made an appeal before the Dominion government for the appointment of Mrs. Murphy of Edmonton, to the Canadian Senate. And it can be said that the appeal was made by a woman of exceptional ability on behalf of a woman who possesses exceptional qualifications.

The Postal Authorities at Ottawa have doubled the price of special delivery letters in Canadian cities. The result will be to divert this correspondence to the telegraph. It will only cost 5 cents more and give much better service in point of time. What the Post Office department should do is to reduce letter postage from 3 cents to 2 cents, the same as it was before the war. People feel that they are being taxed to death.

In regard to the proposals made to Ireland by the British government, a news dispatch says that Grant Morden, M.P., has expressed the views of the majority of Canadians resident in London, when he said: "It is earnestly hoped that the offer will be submitted to a plebiscite of the Irish people, for I am confident, and this opinion is confirmed by hundreds with whom I have spoken, that if this is done the offer will be accepted by an overwhelming majority of the Irish people, the terms generally being conceded as more generous than expected. The rejection of the offer at this time would mean the loss of the support of the whole Anglo Saxon world, and a resumption of the conditions of war which prevailed before the truce too horrible to contemplate." This, it may be well taken, is the opinion of the vast majority of Canadians in the Dominion.

Medicine Hat people are protesting against the diversion of gas from that district for use in Calgary and other points. Upwards of $6,000,000 capital is invested in Medicine Hat industries, and it is feared sufficient volume of gas might not be available to meet local requirements if outside points are supplied.

Grain men throughout Alberta are of the belief that a safe estimate of the total crop of wheat will be sixty-nine million bushels.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT

Los Angeles Times: The world is becoming distressingly unlovely and even bootleggers are beginning to lose their sense of honor. When a citizen buys a quart of Scotch whisky for $20 he may be merely getting prune juice from Ventura county. Only the other day a banker who purchased a barrel of Old Crow was embarrassed at the shrinkage of it. He had been permitted to draw from the spigot a quart or more of the stuff in the sampling processes, but a few weeks after he had the cask in his cellar the faucet ran dry, although the barrel still seemed full. Investigation showed that the spigot tapped a dummy container fastened to the interior of the cask and holding less than a gallon. The other forty gallons consisted of a rather poor quality of Pacific Ocean. The banker thought that $40 a gallon was too much to pay for his ocean. At that rate it would cost him a thousand for a good bath. Also a local bootlegger has been selling bottled goods with a shell of paraffine a few inches below the neck of the flask. Above the paraffine the contents are a fair grade of whisky, but below it there is nothing but weak tea. When a man can no longer repose confidence and trust in his favorite bootlegger the universe seems like a hollow mockery and a pitiful sham.

The Guardian: The enormous multiplication of automobiles has greatly increased the number of summer tourists, who, forsaking the railways and steamboats, pack all their belongings in their "flivver" or more pretentious car, and eschewing all hotels, cook their own meals, and sleep in their own tent wherever night overtakes them. But this means possible trespassing upon someone's property, and to avoid this, and meet the needs of such motorists, cities and towns from Maine to Oregon have provided free camping sites, in some cases well policed, and even provided with cooking stoves, water supply and other necessary conveniences. And as about 1,500,000 persons visited the national forests in California last year, and as most of them came in automobiles and camped in the forest, it has been found wise to provide regular camping sites in the forest, where the danger of fire can be reduced to a minimum. Just how far Canada has gone in this direction we do not know, but as our roads are improved and our autos increase, we shall face the same problem and doubtless we shall find it wise to cater to the tourist traffic in the same way.

New York Tribune: Canadians must be pleased with the prospect which opens before them under the leadership of the brave figure whom on Thursday last they inaugurated as their Governor-General. The British government could have selected no representative with surer access to the heart of the Dominion than the man who led the sons of the Maple Leaf to imperishable glory on the battlefields of France—Julian Hedworth George, Baron Byng of Vimy. The people of the United States have an imagination for such men as the new commander-in-chief of the nation across the northern border. They know the new Governor-General's record as a soldier, and they know the story of Vimy Ridge—a tale which will never die. He may be certain that they welcome his coming to this side of the Atlantic, and that their good wishes are his.

Los Angeles Times: With the breaking up of the imperial conference in London honor has come to a leader on the American continent. Just as President Harding looms largest in the public eye of the United States because he is the head of the government, so Arthur Meighen, Prime Minister of Canada, stands head and shoulders above all men across the northern boundary. He eclipses the Governor-General, who is appointed by the British government, but who is hardly more than a figurehead—a dispenser of hospitality at Rideau Hall and a picturesque personage when Parliament is opened. Arthur Meighen went to London a comparative unknown to Britishers. He won more encomiums there than any of the other colonial premiers who attended the conference. He comes back to this continent recognized as a leader among the statesmen of the British Empire. Americans should be as much interested in him as his fellow-countrymen for the cornerstone of his policy is uninterrupted friendly relations with the United States. The rise of this comparatively young man of 47 has been little short of remarkable. When he succeeded Sir Robert Borden as Prime Minister of Canada about two years ago so little was known of him in this country that even in newspaper offices the question was asked, Who is Meighen? Many a "morgue" was ransacked vainly for an envelope of clippings relating to the Dominion Premier. Even in Canada political prophets wagged their heads solemnly and predicted that Meighen wouldn't make a go of it. They said he had none of the magnetic qualities of "Old Tomorrow" and lacked the silver tongue of Laurier. But Arthur Meighen is proving as adept in leadership as Sir John Macdonald and he has developed as a platform speaker till he almost recalls the late Sir Wilfrid.

Calgary Herald: The prompt action taken by Premier Meighen to secure relief for the livestock industry will give general satisfaction in Western Canada. As soon as the facts of the case were presented to him the Prime Minister conferred with the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Dr. Tolmie, Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, and the officials of the Canadian Bankers' association. The outcome of their deliberations was an immediate decision to co-operate in saving the livestock industry from the disaster that is threatening it. Premier Meighen's presentation of the situation to the banks has resulted in two lines of action. In the first place the banks agree that all reasonable credit will be extended to deserving borrowers against livestock, especially with regard to renewals, and that no undue pressure will be brought to bear for payments until a reasonable improvement in market conditions has been shown. The government supplements this agreement by guaranteeing an advance of $10,000,000, which the banks will make to livestock men.

FINANCIAL STRESS ACUTE IN EAST

Mayor of Lethbridge Finds Money Market Tight and Unemployment Rife.

Mayor Hardie of Lethbridge and well known here attended the Convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities at Ottawa and upon his return the Lethbridge Herald had an interesting interview with that gentleman on conditions in the East. While at Montreal Mayor Hardie endeavored to sell bonds of his city, but he could not obtain better than 9 per cent. It happened that while at Montreal an excursion train of harvesters to the West left and he remarked to the press that it was not fair to the West to have men dumped from the East in view of the general unemployment problem now existing in the West. The result was that a second excursion train was cancelled. Later he proceeded to Tennessee to visit his parents and then went from there to Pittsburgh.

Things in the States he says are very bad and even appalling. On the Pittsburgh-Fort Wayne branch of the Pennsylvania railway there is an unbroken line of machine shops, rolling mills and blast furnaces, every one of which was still, with no work in progress. At one town he stopped at the mayor informed him that half the population had been idle for the past three months and were likely to be for some time. There are some six million unemployed in the United States, and those who have lived there for long years say that they have never seen conditions such as they exist today.

Incidentally the mayor mentioned that in Montreal he found great difficulty in getting a room at the Windsor Hotel and was in the end accommodated with a "cubby-hole" for which he was charged $10 for the night. Going up to his quarters, on the top floor of the building, he recognized that it was the similar one he occupied when he was last in Montreal and for which he was only charged $5. The prices in the hotel are due, said the Mayor, to the congestion caused by the influx of American visitors to take advantage of a "wet" Montreal. Round the Windsor the buildings have been turned into apartment houses to accommodate the crowd of visitors from the States who come there in search of the drink which prohibition in the States makes it difficult for them to obtain.

What's a Guarantee?

Our idea of a guarantee is that the manufacturer who gives one—which hasn't any tags and loopholes—believes in his product.

So much so that he stands ready to make good any loss suffered by the purchaser through defective material or workmanship.

It's mainly because of the guarantee that goes with them that we are selling and recommending Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes."

Of course, we know they give the cheapest mileage too—that they are dependable tires for any make of car, anywhere. But it's the guarantee that we talk about most. It's the straight and clean-cut, without time or mileage limits. It shifts our responsibility on to the manufacturer and he lives up to every letter of it. WHEAT HARVESTING
ALMOST FINISHED

Threshing Progresses in Most Districts—The 1921 Crop is Small but Grade is Good

Wheat harvesting is drawing to a close all over the south country, according to the reports received this morning from the agents in the Lethbridge division of the Canadian Pacific railway company. From seventy-five to one hundred per cent of the wheat cutting is done. Oat cutting is now general. Farmers are also garnering their barley and rye.

Threshing has begun in many points. It is well along east of Taber, where consignments of 1921 wheat have been going forward to the eastern terminals for over a week. The returns, however, in that section are poor. This is due to the extended drought.

On the Aldersyde line threshing has commenced. Carmangay reports that 40 per cent has already been done. The yield along this line is also very light, averaging from five to fifteen bushels to the acre of wheat. Oats will be somewhat higher. Vulcan's crop appears to be averaging better, for they now report that wheat will run fifteen bushels.

West and north of the city cutting is proceeding. Weather conditions are favorable. Points north of High River report light frosts. Dry weather has prevailed from Macleod to the mountains.

Raymond and Cardston did not report this week. Perhaps this was due to the press of work in harvesting the big crops for this line has the best grain in the south country. Very favorable conditions are reported from the Coultis line, while down Foremost way threshing is in full swing with about 20 per cent done.

A summary of the crop situation last week-end follows:

Macleod Subdivision
Midnapore—General conditions fair. Expected average yield per acre, wheat 15, oats 30, barley 20. Percentage cut to date, wheat 30 per cent, oats 70 per cent, barley 60 per cent. Light frost.

Okotoks—Fair. Wheat 20, oats 35, barley 20. Wheat 85 per cent, oats 60 per cent, barley 55 per cent. No frost damage.

Aldersyde—Fair. Wheat 7, oats 25, barley 20. Wheat 100 per cent, oats 50, barley 75.
High River—Fair. Wheat 15, oats 25, barley 25. Wheat 100 per cent, oats 50, barley 75. Hoppers are bad.
Cayley—Fair. Wheat 15, oats 20, barley 10. Wheat 100 per cent, oats 85.

Parkland—Fair. Wheat 8, oats 20, barley 15. Wheat cut 80 per cent. Warm.

Claresholm—Fair. Wheat 9, oats 20, barley 15. Wheat 90 per cent, oats 90, barley 100.

Graham—Fair. Wheat 90 per cent cut, oats 95 per cent.

Aldersyde Line
Nobleford—Poor. Wheat 8, oats 21. Wheat 95 per cent, oats 60. Rain.
Barons—Poor. Wheat 12, oats 20. Wheat 90 per cent.

Carmangay—Poor. Wheat 8, oats 12. Wheat 60 per cent, oats 40. Forty per cent threshed.

Champion—Poor. Percentage cut to date, wheat 80, oats 50.

Vulcan—Light. Wheat 15, oats 25, barley 15, flax 10. Wheat 75 per cent, oats 50. Cool.

Brant—Poor. Wheat 7, oats 25. Wheat 95 per cent, oats 95. Fine weather.

Blackie—Fair. Wheat 5, oats 25, barley 20. Wheat 90 per cent, oats 90, barley 100.

FOREST FIRES ARE
NEARING ALBERTA

Air Patrol from High River Station Is Fighting Advance of Flames

No further news has been received of the forest fires which yesterday were reported to be threatening the Alberta forests in the district near Crow's Nest mountain, reports of which reached the office of the district forestry inspector at Calgary from the High River Air station. C. H. Morse, district inspector, stated Monday evening that it is improbable that any additional reports of the fire have reached the city as all information of this sort would be sent directly to the forestry office.

The fire is reported as sweeping at a rate of ten miles an hour toward the west branch of Allison creek on the Alberta side at a point where there is a low timber covered pass through which the flames could easily pass. Officials at the High River Air station made immediate preparations to fight the fire and state that they are confident they can cope with the situation. Airplanes are being used.

The fire was first discovered by air patrol scouts in the district west of Crow's Nest mountain between Michel and Erickson Creek, and was sweeping toward the Alberta border in the direction of some of the best timber in the province. A message was sent immediately to the nearest station and forwarded to Calgary.

At a special meeting of the Innisfail Town Council held recently the tax rate for 1921 was struck as follows: Town—School, 56 mills; general, 52 mills; debenture, 22 mills; total, 130 mills. Supplementary tax, 2 mills; rural school tax, 8 mills.

THE FARMER AND HIS MARKET

Why Should Not The Farmer Adjust Production to Suit Market Conditions.

Does the farmer do well or ill when in time of low prices and diminished demand for his products he deliberately plants a smaller acreage? Should he be commended or rebuked for adjusting his production to the conditions of his market?

If the farmer is a kind of serf whose only purpose in life is to raise abundant food at the cheapest possible price for the other members of the community, he ought of course to plant all he can, work as hard as he can and raise all he can every year. If he is a self-supporting citizen engaged in the business of producing foodstuffs for sale to his fellow citizens who are otherwise employed, it is hard to see any reason why he should not use his intelligence in estimating the amount of his crops that he can sell at such prices as to give him a decent living, and then restrict his production to that amount. No one is astonished or shocked when a manufacturer closes a part of his plant because the market will not absorb his entire output. Why should we expect the farmer to raise so much that a part of his crop has to be thrown away and the rest sold at a price that returns him little or nothing for his labor?

Of course it is difficult for the farmers to tell exactly how much they should reduce their acreage in order to produce the necessary and only the necessary amount of food. The independent producers are so many and so widely scattered that each man can get only an uncertain idea of what his own share in raising the crop of the year should be, or of just what the millions of other farmers are doing with regard to the situation. And even if the growing means of intercommunication among farmers and the increasing efficiency of co-operative organizations should help him to a sensible decision on the question of acreage, there are the uncertainties of drought or flood or insect pest that often make the harvest of September something quite different from the estimate of May. There is therefore the danger that a general movement for reducing crop areas may go too far and result in a real shortage of food. But that does not affect the conclusion that the farmers have a perfect right to adjust their work and their production to what they believe to be the effectual demand, and that it is often wise for them to do it.

The cotton planters of the South have this year done exactly that. Knowing that almost one half of last year's great crop of thirteen million bales remained unsold and that another bumper crop would depress prices to the point of bankruptcy for them, they planted less than three quarters of their usual acreage and raised a crop of only some eight million bales—the smallest crop since 1895. But the carry-over is so great that the visible supply of cotton is almost as large as ever, and the price has not been much affected by the crop reports. The grain farmers have not reduced their acreage materially, and their crop is likely to be about as large as last year, though much smaller than the extraordinary crop of 1919.—Youth's Companion.

HOPPER MENACE
MUST BE FACED

Government Entomologist Emphasizes the Present Seriousness of Situation.

The seriousness of the grasshopper situation was emphasized this morning by E. H. Strickland, government entomologist, when he stated that unless drastic measures of destruction were taken the hoppers would increase from year to year for perhaps another three or four years when they would begin to disappear. "We might just as well take a stand on this matter. The hoppers are going to be far worse next year than they are this. We have had them here three years now and they may be here for three or four more years. They operate in cycles but the cycles are long ones. A systematic campaign must be waged if the country is to be saved," said Mr. Strickland.

Continuing, he stated that they were spreading north and east. They have now reached the Saskatchewan boundary and have crossed the Red Deer river.

With regards to grasshoppers damaging fall rye, Mr. Strickland urged as the most effective precautionary measures late sowing. September 16 was mentioned as a possible limit, and farmers are advised to seed as close to that date as possible. The setting out of bait is of course in order, also.

And Linda replied earnestly: "Why, I done want and got married yesterday and changed my name."

WANT A WOMAN
IN THE SENATE

Mrs. Nellie McClung, M.L.A. for Edmonton is at Ottawa pressing the claims of Mrs. Emily F. (Judge) Murphy of Edmonton, known in the literary world as "Janey Canuck" for the vacancy in the Alberta representation in the Dominion senate. Women have the vote and are already in provincial and municipal politics, but none have yet arrived in Ottawa or aspired to that position. Mrs. Murphy is a vigorous reformer and her advocates think that she would personally be an accession to the senate, while her appointment would be a proper recognition of the rights and status of women. The premier promised a courteous consideration of the unique request. He is persistently bombarded for senatorships, but this is the first time that a woman has been put forward for that position.

CENSUS FIGURES
REGARDING STOCK

A statistician who has been examining the census figures concerning live stock and comparing them with facts of more recent date that are within his knowledge, reports that the decrease of meat animals in this country is becoming alarming. He has found that the number of cattle for each one hundred of our population is one-third less than it was in 1900; that the number of sheep similarly reckoned has diminished by nearly two-thirds and that hogs are some forty per cent. less numerous than they were years ago. He believes that the shrinkage of livestock is going on at an increasing rate and points out that at the stockyards eleven per cent fewer creatures were slaughtered this year than during the census year. The department of Agriculture, he says, has been overestimating the number of animals in the country for years, and he finds that the census returned 14,000,000 fewer sheep and 22,000,000 fewer hogs than the department estimated. As a natural result of these facts our export trade in meat is dwindling, and last year we imported 175,000,000 pounds of fresh meat, mostly from Australia.

POPULATION STATISTICS

Preliminary statistics which have just been issued, give the population of Victoria as 38,775; Lethbridge, 11,055; London, 53,592; Stratford, 15,987; Halifax, 70,203; Hull, 23,867; Charlottetown, 12,329; Brantford, 29,372; Kingston, 23,096; Sherbrooke, 22,097; and Oshawa, 11,552.

The population of Scotland is 4,882,000 people.

"THE BEAUTIFUL GAMBLER"

A Rushing Drama of Life and Love on the Flaming Frontier. From a Story by Peter B. Kyne, Directed by Wm. Worthington.

IT'S A REAL ADVENTURE

RED CROSS AND VICINITY

On Wednesday, August 24, Vulcan ball team motored out to Red Cross to play a game of baseball. This was a real snappy game all the way through "Do you get that?" The Red Cross boys put up a splendid game and won easily by 10-0, but fate seemed to be in the road for Vulcan. Of course they lacked some of their players and they put in some of "their" professionals players. These pro players were real good, but they didn't seem to understand the game. When they saw a fly coming they would ask someone near what to do and by the time they got an answer the ball would be rolling along the ground. "Some fly catchers."

The dance that was put on by the baseball players turned out to be one of the best ever held in the school. There was a large crowd from town and they were out for a good time and they sure found it. We wish to thank all those from town and elsewhere for their support in helping the boys. The music was splendid, one could tell that from the dancers every time a one step, fox trot or waltz was played it had to be played over and over again before they were satisfied. Great credit is due to the management for getting such good music, which was supplied by Mrs. Eshum at the piano, Mr. Fred Simington, saxophone and Ed. Love at the drums. We all do earnestly hope they have another one in the near future.

TOO GOOD

Switzerland, touched only lightly by the ravages of the war, emerged with a complacent chuckle and with money unimpaired. All ready for business.

But the one-time world mecca for tourists now is getting the go-by. Summer tourists are going to Italian and French resorts. Even Swiss in large numbers are leaving the country for their vacations.

For Swiss money, due to the rate of exchange, goes five times as far in Italy and twice as far in France.

GOVERNMENTS KILL BUSINESS

"The less governments have to do with business and international finance the better for their peoples," said that wise Englishman, Viscount Bryce, in his blunt way in a recent address on economics in the United States.

The New York Herald agrees emphatically, pointing out that the experiences with railroads and shipping in the United States are impressive illustrations of the inability of the government to work outside of its legitimate field adding:

"Ambition, energy and economy are the mainsprings of American business, and every one of the three snaps when government takes hold. Turn a railroad, a shipyard or a factory over to the politicians and it ceases to perform its functions and becomes merely something for office holders to feed on. The touch of the government in business is the touch of death."

The C.P.R. steamer Princess Louise of the British Columbia coast service line was launched recently. It is a boat of palatial design and on a par with everything else connected with the C.P.R.

THE BEST OF ALL GAMES

"You're sick of the game?" Well, now that's a shame. You're young, and you're brave, and you're bright.

"You've had a raw deal!" I know, but don't squeal.

Buck up, do your damndest, and fight. It's the plugging away that will win you the day.

So don't be a piker, old pard! Just draw on your grit; it's so easy to quit.

It's the keeping-your-chin-up that's hard.

It's easy to cry that you're beaten, and die;

It's easy to crawl and crawl;

But to keep on and fight until it comes right—

Why, that is the best game of all!

—Robert W. Service.

POLO PLAYING POPULAR

Team work in polo is as important as it is in the national game of hockey, or in any other sports event where players must depend on fellow team members for the completion of plays, to the end that they present a strong front on the defensive and a sweeping attack on the offensive end. An apt illustration of this was noted in the game at the Calgary Polo club grounds on Saturday. The Calgary Polo club four which defeated the Vancouver team for the British Columbia championship defeated a team picked by Wm. Trevenan from the players of the Calgary and Cochrane Polo clubs. The western champions displayed a reliable brand of team work, and their defeat of the picked team was easily accomplished. Score, 7-3.

Western Canada champions: No. 1, Alex. McHugh; 2, Dick Brown; 3, Marston Sexsmith; back, Frank McHugh.

Picked team: Gordon Hynde Billy Wolley Dodd, Wm. Trevenan, Chappie Clarkston.

Referee—Major Wolley Dod.

HOW THE SMITHS BUY

A decade or so ago Mrs. Smith would buy a loaf of bread. Today she buys a trade-marked brand of bread. The collar that Mr. Smith wore was just a collar. Today it is an Arrow, a Lion, an Ide.

For the Smith family no longer follow old hit-or-miss methods of buying. They have learned the dollar-for-dollar value of every article they purchase. They know how to compare, pick and choose. Advertising has taught them.

Advertising determines the make of the Smith's talking machine; the brand of their breakfast food; the tires on their automobile. Advertising has taught them what to buy and how to buy. Advertising has taught them a new science, the science of spending.

The Smiths of New Zealand and the Smiths of New York—the Smiths of Shanghai and the Smiths of Seattle are all alike in this respect.

Consciously or unconsciously, everything they wear, everything they eat, everything they work with, play with, live with, is a product of the influence of advertising.—Printer's Ink.

FITTING CATTLE FOR SHOW

The writer holds no brief to write on this subject to experienced showmen. The showing of cattle is an art which they have long since mastered and could give unlimited advice on if they would out put pen to paper. The purpose of the writer is to touch on a few points which may be helpful to beginners be they old or young.

In the first place, you would top the class and the judge knows his business you must have the goods, consequently select closely. In the second place fitting, in so far as proper fleshing is concerned, takes time, consequently preparatory feeding should extend over a period of a few months previous to the time of showing. This preparatory feeding can be done on pasture in the case of cattle that are out.

Taking for granted then that these two factors have been taken care of the next step is to put the finishing touches or "bloom" on the animal. To do this the animals should be stabled three to four weeks previous to the date of the show. During this time feed fairly liberally on suitable roughages such as good hay, green corn or other soiling crops and a grain mixture containing ten to fifteen per cent. oil cake meal, the latter being ideal to put a good glossy skin on the animals. All animals should now be washed, particularly if white in color. Stand the animals on some good washing platform and wet them all over. Then rub up a lather with soap, preferably some mild soft variety. Scrub with suitable brush until clean, then rinse soap off thoroughly as any left in the hair will tend to stain it yellow. In the case of white animals a particularly clear white color can be obtained by applying blueing water after the last rinsing, this water being allowed to remain in the hair for a time before being pressed out. The animals should now be blanketed with light blankets, preferably with a soft finish next the body. Any work necessary to get animals in proper shape such as trimming feet, filling horns smooth so as to make later polishing easy, and trimming hair with clippers in those areas where this practice is followed, should be done before leaving for the show. Special attention should be laid upon the proper training of the animal to lead, stand, etc., for often all the work of good-fitting is offset by bad manners in the ring.

Having arrived at the show grounds the first endeavour of the showman should be to make his charges feel at home, comfortable and well fed. This can be accomplished to a certain extent by a ration of home grown feeds brought along for the purpose as well as by liberal bedding, good water, etc. After they have become rested up the final washing may be given preferably just previous to the day on which they are to be shown. This washing should be similar to the first with a somewhat heavier blanketing afterwards, using where possible a fine flannellette blanket next the skin. Milk cows are usually milked out clean the evening before show day and the milk then left in them until after the showing is over. This make is for a good showing in the milk classes. Unbalanced udders may be leveled up by milking out a little of the milk from the heavy quarters.

A careful feeder will have rising appetites in his cattle on the morning of the showing so that they will eat heartily and appear well filled up. Care must be taken however, not to overdo the filling up with feed or water as a gorged animal neither looks nor handles well.

DEATH WILL BE HIS LOT

A man asked the Editor of the Gold Coast Lumberman, the other day the following questions:

"You say that advertising, trade extension, service, modern merchandising, etc., are necessary for the salvation of the lumber dealer. Then what do you think is going to become of the dealer who does NOT believe in these things and will not adopt anything but the lines of action that his father followed before him?"

We answered,—"We think he's in the fix that J. Smith Carberry was", and then we told him the story of Carberry as follows:

J. Smith Carberry was the leading citizen of a small city where everyone knew everybody, and his business. He was taken very sick one day and rushed to the hospital. The editor of the local daily paper heard the news rushed to his office, and the front page of his paper that evening bore the following story:

"Our esteemed fellow townsman J. Smith Carberry will be operated upon tomorrow morning for a dangerous attack of appendicitis at St. Timothy's Hospital, by Surgeon Cutter. HE WILL LEAVE A WIFE AND FIVE CHILDREN."

FRUIT LANDS EAGERLY BOUGHT

The development of the thirteen thousand acre tract of irrigated fruit land which is being undertaken by the provincial government at Oliver, near Penticton, is progressing favorably.

As a result of recent sales more than seventy-five per cent. of the bench lands open for settlement and for which irrigation has been provided, have been disposed of. All the business lots in the townsite of Oliver have been sold. By next fall another irrigation tract of about 2,300 acres will be placed on the market.

BUILDERS OF FAITH NEEDED

From every side—from every angle—we hear mutterings of doubt. Perhaps never before in the business life of the nation has there been so much vocalized fear, and uttered evil portent, as at the present time.

It affects all classes, penetrates all business and permeates all departments. In a thousand different ways we are being assured that "things look bad"; that business has gone to pot; that the outlook grows worse; that the books of the universe seem to be out of balance.

Nothing spreads like the propaganda that spreads on the wings of FEAR.

Hydro-headed, it springs up everywhere.

One thing is absolutely and utterly certain. We must head off this growing tide of pall-tinted pessimism. There are entirely too many people playing his country to lose. We have got to play it to win, if we expect to win.

We need men; clear-thinking, straight-talking, "square-shooting" men. We need men who can and will think and talk and spread the gospel of optimism as an antidote for those fogs of fear.

"We need men to match our mountains,"

We need men to match our plains. Men with eras in their purpose, Men with epochs in their brains."

All it takes to scatter the fogs of morning is the clear rays of the rising sun. And all it takes to dissipate this fog of present-moment pessimism is the sunshine of truthful, intelligent, courageous optimism.

Everything is safe so long as we know it is and know why it is. And those men who know, and who know why, must speak out in order to stem the tide of fear.

A fine selling effort is necessary right now. We have got to sell the people of this nation on our own safety, security and right to prosper.

We have a right to prosper. We have a right to evade business and financial tragedies. And we prove that right by exercising it.

We have got to think, talk and act straight, and we've got to talk safety and prosperity, and we've got to do it now. So far most of the talking is by the crape hangers. Let the booster brigade get to work. We need builders of faith.

MacLeod, Alta., will be honored with the presence of Rev. A. Holcome, a Presbyterian minister from a country parish near Glasgow, Scotland, who, together with his wife and 13 children are coming west to seek their fortunes.
